Editor's note

Lieve lezers,

Heel erg bedankt voor de ingezonden stukjes en lekker muffin recept.

Het was een drukke paar maanden voor ons, Lekker Dutch, we hadden 2 festivals van 3 dagen waar we patatjes oorlog maakten voor de Nederlandse gasten en niet-Nederlandse die de combinatie mayonaise en satésaus kenden. En het benadrukt maar weer hoeveel Nederlanders in New Zealand wonen en bezoeken voor vakantie en/of werk. Natuurlijk vertellen we hen allemaal over de Dutch club waar zij Nederlandse les kunnen krijgen en alle nodige voedsel requirements en essentials.

In deze Echo vindt u ook het laatste nieuws van de ambassade en op deze webpagina www.denederlandsevereniging.nl, kun je interessante en informatieve stukjes vinden over Nederland en andere Nederlandse clubs in NZ.

Veel leesplezier en hopelijk zie ik meer leuke stukjes en lekkere recepten binnenkomen voor de April Echo, denk er niet over na, stuur het gewoon in.

Tot gauw,

Hedwig

Beste Lezers,

Onze eerste markt zit er alweer op! Ondanks dat velen van ons naar de begrafenis van Kor Verburgh zijn geweest vorig jaar, was zijn afwezigheid op de markt duidelijk te voelen! Kor deed altijd de ronde en had altijd een vriendelijk woord voor iedereen, zelfs toen hijzelf erg ziek was. Ook is het even wennen aan de nieuwe gezichten achter de kaas, maar de gezelligheid is er gelukkig zoals altijd!

Vandaag hadden we onze Familie Fun middag horen houden met Boerengolf en andere spelletjes, maar helaas hebben we dat met veel teleurstelling moeten afzeggen vanwege gebrek aan interesse. We begrijpen dat februari een drukke maand is voor iedereen. Misschien proberen we het nog eens wat later in het jaar, maar u begrijpt dat het voor ons steeds moeilijker wordt om leuke en nieuwe ideeën aan te brengen.

Op een positieve noot, we hebben een nieuwe secretaris! Andreas (Dries) is ons komen versterken en heeft de secretaris functie op zich genomen. Welkom Dries, we zijn erg blij dat je erbij gekomen bent.

Paasen is al heel kort bij, en wij doen dit jaar de Paasviering weer samen met de markt, en wel al op de volgende markt in maart! Zie meer hierover op pagina 5.

Dear readers,

We have had our first market of the year already. Despite many of us attending Kor Verburgh's funeral last year, it was strange not to have him at the market. Kor always did the rounds having a kind word for everyone, even when he was terribly ill. It also takes some getting used to the new faces behind the cheese, but luckily it hasn't affected the fun and 'gezelligheid'.

Today we should have had our Family Fun afternoon, with Boerengolf and other games. Unfortunately, and disappointingly, we have had to cancel due to lack of interest. We understand that February is a busy month for everyone. We may try again later in the year, but you understand that it is becoming increasingly difficult for us to try new and fun ideas.

On a positive note, we have a new secretary. Andreas (Dries) has come to strengthen our committee and has taken on the secretarial function. Welcome Dries, we are very glad you joined us.

Easter is just around the corner, and we are again combining the Easter celebration with our market in March. See more on page 5.

Warm regards,

Hartelijke groet,

Miryam Denny-Ipenburg

From the Entertainment Team

This year the Easterbunny will come early to coincide with the Easter Market on Sunday 10th of March.

We will have several different activities for the children and of course a visit from the Easterbunny followed by the Easter egg hunt.

The market starts as always at 10am and the childrens activities will start around 11am to give us a bit of time to organise.

It would be really good if people could let us know that they are coming with the children so we have an idea how many Easter eggs the bunny has to bring.

You can call Annie on mob: 021-0625656 or anyone from the committee preferably before the 6th of March.

The entertainment team wishes you all a happy Easter.

KATA PENGANTAR

Mag ik u op de eerste plaats vanuit prachtig en zomers Nieuw Zeeland een goed, beter, allerbest 2024 toewensen?
 Het is nu zover dat wij u, direct vanuit 'down under', deze bijzondere Lloyd-Mail kunnen sturen, een uitgave die voornamelijk over de allereerste uitreiking van onze 'stichting WWII-Eremedaille' gaat. Naast het emotionele, doch ietwat betoonpte verslag, probeer ik u in dit nummer visueel met te nemen naar die indrukwekkende gebeurtenis die voor betrokkenen KIVI-familie van grotere betekenis is dan wij kunnen vermoeden. Uiterst belangrijke ook was dat de ceremonie werd bijgewoond door de Nederlandse Consul op het Zuider Eiland. Door zijn mooie woorden gaf hij een extra dimensie aan de postume onderscheiding, iets waaraan ik bij het Ministerie van Defensie een jaar tevergeefs heb gewerkt. Zo ziet men dat de Nederlandse overheid in het buitenland veel alerter en toegankelijker is dan de Nederlandse overheid thuis in ons natte 'kikkerlandje'. Dat dit inderdaad zo is, bleek al bij onze Indonesië-projecten, waarbij we alle medewerking van de Nederlandse Ambassade te Djakarta kregen en door hen zelfs in de watten werden gelegd. De Ambassade in Nieuw Zeeland is een tweede voorbeeld, waarbij ik trots ben dat ik deze medaille-missie, tegen hardnekkige stroomversnellingen in, tot een goed einde heb mogen brengen! Deze speciale Lloyd-Mail maken en verzenden vanuit een land dat niet verder van ons eigen land kan liggen, was een uitdaging op zich niet in de laatste plaats omdat alle layout en tekst in deze uitgave, via een, voor dat doel, wat ongemakkelijke, lap-top, moest worden opgemaakt. Desondanks is dit, daacht ik, toch aardig gelukt!

IMPRESSIVE POSTHUMOUS PRESENTATION WWII - MEDAL OF HONOUR. 3

ANNO DOMINI 2024 OAMARU - New Zealand

It took more than three years of serious effort to get to the point where praise has come, where praise is deserved, despite 83 years of relative silence! Next of Kin and other attendees of the posthumous awarding Ceremony experienced emotional moments. They had the feeling that justice had finally been done! A Ceremony with heart and soul, with a commitment and gratitude that I will not soon forget we really are very proud that we were able to plant the first seeds for this.

In Honour of Captain Dr. Lennox Douglas,
 Head NZ-Medical Team attached to ss Slamlat.
 "Praise where praise is due",
 "Ere wie ere toekomst!"
 April 27, 1941

About 'Operation Demon' - 1941 a brief history

Early 1941, the proud Rotterdam Lloyd passenger liner ss Slamlat, was converted into a troop-ship and came under control of the British Ministry of War Transport. She was deployed in the evacuation of 60.000 allied troops from Greece, known as: 'Operation Demon'. On April 27 ss Slamlat was lying at anchor in the Bay of Nauplion (Greece), British, Australian and New Zealand troops came on board as planned. The troops were hastily boarded because Slamlat Captain Tjalling Luidinga was instructed to leave port before dawn. Although not all troops were on board, the Slamlat weighed anchor at 04.15 hours and left in convoy, sailing South. At that time Slamlat had 600 allied troops and 217 crew members on board. Surgeon Captain Dr. Lennox Douglas and his New Zealand Medical Team prepared for the things that were inevitable to come!

Disaster in its full

Three hours later, at daybreak, the convoy was off Leonidion attacked by nine German Stukas of Jagdgeschwader-77. Unfortunately SLAMAT sustained a direct hit between the navigation bridge and her front funnel. It is very likely that this direct hit ended the life of Lennox Douglas and his Medical Team they died during the performance of their medical task, in which they saved many lives.

The heroic crew made desperate attempts to keep the fierce fire under control, but the Stukas continued their attacks. To make it even worse the water pipes, used for extinguishing fires, were severely damaged and soon it was not possible to avoid certain disaster. The fire took such a quick hold that Captain Tjalling Luidinga ordered the immediate evacuation of his ship. The remaining lifeboats and rafts were launched and the disembarkation took place under constant fire from the attacking Stukas. Many more Allied troops and crew members from eight countries involved lost their lives. The Stukas continued shamelessly to attack the crammed lifeboats and rafts and took many more lives of both troops and crew. The other ships in the convoy and the accompanying warships tried to escape from this hell, leaving the British destroyer HMS Diamond with her Commander, Philip Alexis Cartwright, (Royal Navy) to protect the Slamlat and chase the Stukas, whilst saving the drowning Slamlat victims. Most who survived the murderous attacks on the Slamlat were taken on board the destroyer HMS Diamond.

SHIPS OF THE MONTH: ss SLAMAT, HMS DIAMOND AND HMS WRYNECK. 4

Many years with Slamlat/Diamond/Wryneck commemorations in The Netherlands I tried to retrieve that forgotten war disaster from oblivion and now an important chapter is being added in that effort, namely the recognition and appreciation of a foreign Slamlat crew member LENNOX DOUGLAS.

Dutch Week 2024

Dutch Week will take place from 27 April to 5 May this year! We are very excited about all the events that will be taking place all over the country celebrating all things Dutch.

You can look forward to events such as the Dutch Speech Competition, the Orange Bike Rides, the Big Dutch Day Out in Foxton, the Dutch Film Festival, King's Day parties, to name a few.

Information about Dutch Week will be available soon on <https://dutchnz.nz>

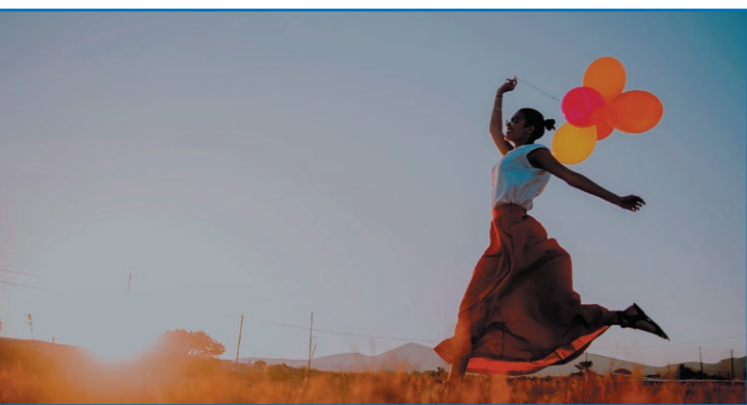

VFS Auckland Appointments

There has been some feedback regarding difficulty when booking appointments on the VFS website. We have investigated and found that many applicants do a Google search for VFS Auckland and pick the first VFS webpage they find. This often leads to landing on the incorrect VFS webpage as VFS represents many other countries in New Zealand and abroad. This causes issues when trying to book Dutch passport applications as there is no such option.

We encourage applicants to use the link on our webpage to access the correct VFS page: www.netherlandsworldwide.nl/passport-id-card/abroad/apply-new-zealand

Dutch Story #3: "The Dutch Contribution"

Story by Redmer Yska

source: <https://teara.govt.nz/en/dutch/media>

In the coming weeks, we will publish this story per chapter. Starting this week with the summary, published 8 Feb 2005, updated 1 May 2016.

Redmer Yska, 'Dutch', Te Ara - the Encyclopedia of NZ, www.TeAra.govt.nz/en/dutch (23 Oct 2023)

How others saw them

The 1950s Dutch migrants were the first foreigners many Kiwis had met. As white Europeans, it was their language and accent rather than their appearance that made them distinctive. The Dutch came to be seen as sensible and hard-working nation builders. Some of the first wave attracted criticism for working too hard, and were told to slow down in the workplace. The 'industrious Dutchie' soon became a national archetype, and qualities such as thrift and abruptness were seen as typical of the new arrivals.

A new approach to hospitality

By introducing new customs and foods, ideas and practices, the Dutch helped change the New Zealand way of life. Migrants like Suzy van der Kwast in Wellington broke new ground by setting up popular cafés where New Zealanders could taste good coffee and exotic food. In the mid-1950s, Auckland restaurateur Otto Groen challenged the conservative drinking laws of the day, which banned the European custom of drinking wine with meals in restaurants. His restaurant, The Gourmet, later became the first in the country to be granted a licence to serve liquor. Vogel's bread, Van Camp chocolate and Verkerk smallgoods are among the flavours of Europe introduced by the Dutch.

Arts and design

Dutch immigrants have brought fresh and challenging ideas. Indonesian-born artist Theo Schoon occupies a significant place in New Zealand art for helping stimulate interest in jade carving, Māori rock drawings, and gourd carving. Frank Carpay was an innovative designer and decorator of ceramics at Crown Lynn Potteries. Ans Westra's images, especially of Māori, cemented her reputation as one of our greatest photographers. Arriving as a child in the 1950s, Riemke Ensing went on to become an established poet. A distinctive Dutch contribution to design is evident in such commercial enterprises as Rembrandt Suits and Lockwood Homes.

Sport

Dutch male immigrants have gained acceptance through sport, especially football. Middle-distance runner Dick Quax broke world records in the 1970s. Other important names in sport include cyclist Tino Tabak, rower Eric Verdonk, and controversial decathlete Simon Poelman. Dutch-born Yvonne Willering helped raise the profile of netball, first as a Silver Ferns player and later as the team's coach. And former All Black prop Kees Meeuws has an unmistakably Dutch name.

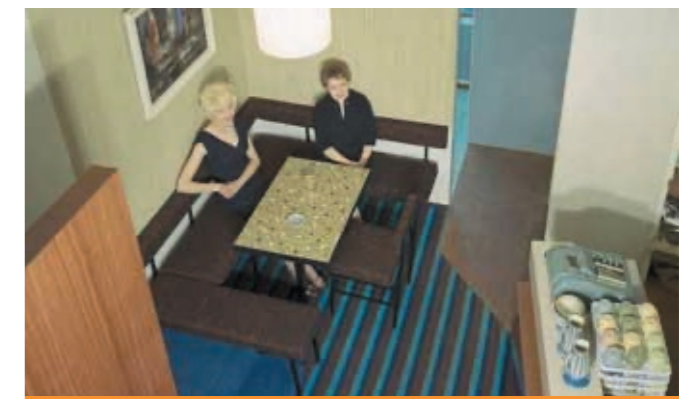

Farming and horticulture

Friesian cows were an early Dutch contribution to the landscape, and migrants brought special expertise as dairy farmers. Growing tulips is another Dutch migrant speciality. Today New Zealand exports tulip bulbs to the Netherlands and around the world through a multi-million-dollar business based in Tapanui.

1980s onwards

The flow of migrants has not ceased, although the numbers have dropped and the reasons for travelling to the other side of the world are no longer economic ones. Later migrants have tended to be middle class, and to have left the prosperous Netherlands for ecological or lifestyle reasons. Between 1982 and 1998, an average of 528 Dutch people arrived each year.

The 2013 census recorded 19,815 Dutch-born people; the number identifying themselves as Dutch was 28,503. More than 100,000 New Zealanders are thought to have Dutch blood in their veins.

Suzy van der Kwast's Wellington café was a haven of good taste in both food and interior design from the 1960s.

My Night Time Visitors

One day recently, one of my neighbours told me there had been some break-ins in Belfast. This probably made me more alert than normal! When a car came up our shared gravel driveway at 11.50pm that night, I woke up with a start. This was not normal. We never have cars coming up the drive after 9pm.

I got up and saw a car with its lights on and a man shining a torch into my driveway. I realised it was the Police. Phew! Why don't they come and arrest the burglar? I thought. I decided to look out of my back window and guess what I saw? A cow! In my backyard.

I told the Policeman, and he said "Not just one cow, there are eight! I am sorry we are just waiting for the Animal Rescue guy." Sure enough I looked again, and there were eight big fat cows wandering around my garden. I later discovered there was also a big fat sheep. I could not believe my eyes!

After a while the Animal Rescue came and herded them all back to the road, and I don't know where they went. The next day I discovered they had eaten all my cabbages, broccoli and kohlrabi, and of course ruined my lawns and left me some fertilizer.
